

Content

Note from the authors	13
Abbreviations and terminology	15
Legal texts	15
Other acronyms used	16
Part 1
Introduction
Chapter 1: OHIM – past – present and the future	19
Chapter 2: Why use the CTM-system?	23
2.1. Unitary and uniform protection of exclusive rights ..	23
2.2. Simplified formalities and management	23
2.3. Low costs	23
2.4. Option of claiming the seniority of national trademarks	24
2.5. Right of priority and filing date	24
2.6. Proof of use is easy to meet	24
2.7. Extensive legal protection accessible to all	25
2.8. An extended range of options for exploiting trademark rights	25
2.9. CTMs are earlier rights in all the countries of the European Union	25
2.10. Enlargement	26
2.11. Do as more than 500.000 applicants have done	26
Chapter 3: Why not only use the CTM system?	27
3.1. When time is an issue	27
3.2. Inconsistent practice	28
3.3. Geographical territories in EU where the CTM is not valid	29

Chapter 4: Administrative law and public law	31
4.1. Article 75 CTMR and the first phase of Article 76(1) CTMR and the principles of protection of legitimate expectations, equal treatment and legality	33
4.2. Infringement of the right to be heard Article 75 2nd sentence CTMR	34
4.3. To sum up	34
Chapter 5: Norway – an outsider	35
5.1. Norwegian voters said “no” – twice	35
5.2. EEA – EFTA	35
5.3. EFTA Court	36
5.4. Does Norway need to follow European trademark case-law?	36
5.5. OHIM practice – should Norway follow it?	36
5.6. Norwegian representatives can not act before OHIM	37
5.7. Madrid Protocol and partial refusals	37
5.8. To sum up	38
Part 2
How to obtain a trademark registration in the European Union
Chapter 6: Direct route or through the Madrid Protocol?	41
6.1. Madrid Protocol	41
6.2. International application and MM2 form	42
6.3. Formality check	43
6.4. Fees	43
Chapter 7: The application form – step-by-step	45
7.1. Languages	45
7.2. Applicant	46
7.3. Representative	47
7.4. The Trademark	51
7.5. List of Goods and Services	54
7.6. Priority	55
Chapter 8: Classification of goods and services	57
8.1. The translations of the list of goods and services	58

8.2.	The specification of the goods and services must clearly indicate the nature of the goods and services .	59
8.3.	Restriction and amendment of the specification of the goods and services	59
8.4.	Class headings and the scope of CTM containing class headings	62
8.5.	How the class heading works in practice	63
8.6.	To sum up	64
Chapter 9:	The trademark	65
9.1.	Word marks	65
9.1.1.	22 languages and several alphabets	65
9.1.2.	Word marks and descriptiveness – Article 7(1)(c) CTMR	67
9.1.3.	Exclusively	67
9.1.4.	Characteristics of the goods or services	68
9.1.5.	Word marks and lack of distinctiveness – Article 7(1)(b) CTMR	73
9.1.6.	To sum up	76
9.2.	Figurative marks	77
9.2.1.	Figurative marks that are too banal and/or simple or purely ornamentation	77
9.2.2.	Figurative marks containing a pattern	81
9.2.3.	Figurative marks that are descriptive or purely informative	82
9.2.4.	Figurative marks that are a two-dimensional representation of the good itself	86
9.2.5.	Figurative marks that are only colours – but not applied for as colour per se	87
9.2.6.	Figurative marks that contain pocket designs	89
9.2.7.	To sum up	91
9.3.	Word marks with figurative/device element	91
9.3.1.	Are there any “Best Buy” advices here?	91
9.3.2.	Are BEST BUY the best judgments?	92
9.3.3.	To sum up	99
9.4.	Slogans	100
9.4.1.	How to get a slogan?	100
9.4.2.	Why are so many slogans rejected?	100
9.4.3.	The awareness of the relevant public is low	101
9.4.4.	Classic case-law on rejected slogans by the General Court	101
9.4.5.	Accepted slogans by the Courts	104
9.4.6.	Recent case-law from the General Court	106

9.4.7.	Recent case-law from the Board of Appeal	107
9.4.8.	General conclusions from the General Court case-law	108
9.5.	Three-dimensional trademarks	108
9.5.1.	Article 7(1)(b) CTMR	110
9.5.2.	Article 7(1)(e) CTMR	111
9.5.3.	To sum up	130
9.6.	Colour marks	130
9.6.1.	'Figurative marks' and 'word with device marks', in colours	130
9.6.2.	Colour per se marks	131
9.6.3.	Applying for a colour per se mark	132
9.6.4.	To sum up	141
9.7.	Sound, movement, smell and "other" marks	141
	The next generation of trademarks	141
9.7.1.	The smell of Europe	142
9.7.2.	Sound of Europe	144
9.7.3.	The movement of Europe	147
9.7.4.	The position of Europe	150
9.7.5.	The feel of Europe	151
9.7.6.	Holograms and Europe	151
9.7.7.	To sum up	152
Chapter 10: Some obstacles for obtaining a trademark protection		153
10.1.	Contrary to public policy and morality – Article 7(1)(f) CTMR	153
10.2.	Deceptive trademarks – Article 7(g) CTMR	161
10.2.1.	Deceptive in relation to part of the goods/services or the quality of the goods/services	161
10.2.2.	Deceptive in relation to geographical indication	164
10.2.3.	To sum up	165
10.3.	Containing State Emblems – Article 6ter in the Paris Convention, Article 7(1)(h) and 7(1)(i) CTMR	165
10.3.1.	Article 6ter in The Paris Convention and Article 7(1)(h) CTMR	166
10.3.2.	Article 7(1)(i) CTMR	176
10.3.3.	To sum up	179
Chapter 11: Collective marks		181
11.1.	Collective marks	181
11.2.	Indicate that you want protection for a collective mark	181
11.3.	Regulations	182

11.4. Article 7(1)(b) CTMR in relation to geographical origin is not applicable	183
11.5. Use of Community collective marks	184
11.6. Fees	184
Chapter 12: Priority, seniority and replacement	185
12.1. Priority	185
12.2. Seniority	187
12.3. Replacement	190
Chapter 13: Conversion, opting back and transformation	193
13.1. Conversion – request for the application of national procedure	194
13.1.1. When conversion is not possible	194
13.1.2. Time period to request conversion and other formalities	194
13.1.3. Examination of the application for conversion at OHIM and the role of OHIM	195
13.1.4. Handling the application at the National IP Offices	196
13.1.5. Conversion and opting – back conversion for international registrations	196
13.2. Transformation relating to international registrations	197
13.3. To sum up	198
Part 3
How you can lose your trademark protection in the European Union
Chapter 14: Third party observations	201
14.1. Third party observations against a CTM	201
14.2. Filing of third party observations in international registrations designating the European Union	204
14.3. To sum up	204
Chapter 15: Oppositions	205
15.1. Step-by-step when filing an opposition	205
15.1.1. Time limits for filing an opposition	205
15.1.2. The opposition must be expressed in writing and reach OHIM	206

15.1.3.	The opposition fee has to be paid within the opposition period	207
15.1.4.	The language regime	207
15.1.5.	Identify the contested trademark	208
15.1.6.	The basis of the opposition	208
15.1.7.	Finally in the notice of opposition, do not forget to:	213
15.1.8.	Statement of grounds	213
15.2.	Step-by-step how OHIM deals with the opposition	213
15.2.1.	Communication of receipt of an opposition	213
15.2.2.	Admissibility check by OHIM	213
15.2.3.	Notification of the opposition	214
15.2.4.	Notification of the opposition regarding an international registration designating the European Union	215
15.2.5.	Cooling-off period	215
15.2.6.	The applicant/international registration holder requests proof of use	216
15.2.7.	The opponent needs to provide evidence of genuine use	217
15.3.	Case-law regarding oppositions based on Article 8(1)(a) CTMR – identical marks and Article 8(1)(b) CTMR – likelihood of confusion	218
15.3.1.	General remarks	218
15.3.1.1.	Adversarial part	219
15.3.1.2.	Applicant’s defence	220
15.3.1.3.	One shot by the applicant	220
15.3.2.	Identity – Article 8(1)(a) CTMR	221
15.3.2.1.	The signs	221
15.3.2.2.	The goods/services	222
15.3.3.	Likelihood of confusion Article 8(1)(b) CTMR	224
15.3.4.	Case-law in opposition cases	227
15.3.4.1.	Word mark vs. word mark	228
15.3.4.2.	Figurative mark vs. figurative mark	238
15.3.4.3.	Word mark vs. figurative mark, and vice versa	252
15.3.4.4.	Three-dimensional mark vs. three-dimensional mark	261
15.4.	Marks with reputation and well – known marks	265
15.4.1.	Well-known trademarks – Article 8(2)(c) CTMR	265
15.4.1.1.	Definition of well-known	266
15.4.1.2.	Territorial extent	267
15.4.2.	Reputed trademarks – Article 8(5) CTMR	267
15.4.2.1.	First condition – reputation	268

15.4.2.2. Second condition – The earlier mark must be detrimentally affected without due cause	272
15.4.2.3. Recent case-law on reputed trademarks	276
15.4.3. To sum up	280
Chapter 16: Cancellations	281
16.1. Procedural issues with cancellation	282
16.1.1. Who can file an application for revocation or for a declaration of invalidity?	282
16.1.2. Time limit	282
16.1.3. How do you proceed with a cancellation?	283
16.1.4. Cancellation cases relating to absolute grounds	283
16.1.5. Cancellation cases based on relative grounds	285
16.2. Right to a name – Article 53(2)(a) CTMR	286
16.3. A copyright – Article 53(2)(c) CTMR	287
16.4. Consent by the proprietor – Article 53(3) CTMR	288
16.5. Res Judicata – Article 53(4) CTMR	288
16.6. Consequences of revocation and invalidity	289
Chapter 17: Proof of use of earlier rights	291
17.1. Article 42(2) and 42(3) CTMR and Rule 22 CTMIR	291
17.1.1. Conditions	291
17.2. Genuine use	295
17.2.1. Language	296
17.2.2. Evidence	296
17.2.3. Place of use	298
17.2.4. Time of use	298
17.2.5. Extent of use	299
17.2.6. Nature of use	300
17.3. General conclusion for Genuine use:	302
Chapter 18: The Appeal System	305
18.1. When you do not agree with the outcome of a decision	305
18.1.1. Objections at the level of the Examination Division	305
18.1.2. One shot	306
18.2. Boards of Appeal	307
18.2.1. The Boards of Appeal enjoy independence	308
18.2.2. Decisions from the Boards of Appeal	309
18.2.3. Grand Board	309
18.3. Court of Justice of the European Union	310

18.3.1. Changes to the organization and jurisdiction of the Court of Justice of the European Union from 1 December 2009	310
18.3.2. General Court	310
18.3.3. Court of Justice	312

Part 4
How to renew your trademark
in the European Union

Chapter 19: Renewal	315
19.1. 10 years period starts from application date	315
19.1.1. When can you request a renewal?	315
19.1.2. Fees	316
19.1.3. Only registered CTMs can be renewed	316
19.1.4. Electronic or by paper?	317
19.1.5. Renewal for one CTM registration or more, and for all the goods and services?	317
19.1.6. Amendments in the specification of goods and services together with the renewal	317
19.1.7. No renewal certificates are issued	317
19.1.8. If no renewal is requested – the CTM is cancelled and removed from the Register!	318
19.1.9. Conversion or renewal?	318
19.1.10. Renewal of International registrations – use WIPO	318
Annex I: CTMR	319
Annex II: CTM application form	373
Annex III: MM2	375
Useful links	385
Sources	388
Cases	389
Index	395